

DEATHS ON THE INCREASE

Number of New Cases of Infantile Paralysis in New York.

(Special to The Herald)
New York, July 11.—Despite the increased efforts of the health officials to curb the epidemic of infantile paralysis, the number of cases and deaths took a sudden jump during the past 24 hours. A total of 195 new cases and 32 deaths were reported, increasing to 1,278 the grand total of cases and 270 the grand total of deaths. Twenty deaths and 155 of the new cases were in Brooklyn. Manhattan had six deaths and 14 cases. The others were scattered over Queens, Richmond and the Bronx. The number of deaths and cases reported today was more than double that listed Monday when there were 14 deaths and 90 cases recorded.

ATTACKS ARE CONTINUED

Germans Make Strong Night Assaults Upon French Positions.

(Special to The Herald)
Paris, July 11.—Despite the pressure against their lines in Picardy, the Germans continued their attacks on the Verdun front east of the Meuse river. The Germans, during strong night assaults, penetrated the French positions in Fumal, wood, but were driven out by counter attacks. On the Somme front there were no infantry actions last night along that section of the line held by the French. There were severe artillery duels, however, on both the Somme and Verdun fronts.

FIVE BRITISH BOATS LOST

REFUSED TO ALLOW INSPECTION

Agents of the German Super-Submarine Deutschland Later Permitted U. S. Navy Officials to Examine Vessel

(Special to The Herald)
Baltimore, July 11.—United States naval experts, after a vigorous controversy, today made a detailed examination of the German super-submarine Deutschland, after her record-breaking, trans-oceanic trip.
Under instructions from Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, Capt. Koenig of the submarine, allowed Capt. C. E. Hughes, Jr., Commander J. O. Fisher and Naval Constructor H. P. Howard of the Navy Department to inspect the vessel. The German agents of the line which owns the Deutschland, in Baltimore, headed by Paul Hilken, flatly refused to allow the naval officers to board the ship without permission from Count Von Bernstorff and they kept the experts on shore until the ambassador from New York had advised that the inspection be permitted. Count Von Bernstorff's decision ended a serious controversy. The United States officials notified the Germans that the inspection was their legal duty and the Germans declared they would allow no one on board the vessel without permission.
Only prompt communication with Von Bernstorff prevented a serious altercation. The ambassador's decision made it apparent that the German officials are determined to go to almost any length to establish the status of the Deutschland as a merchant ship and thus form the basis for a diplomatic fight to break the English-French blockade.
The German experts took the position that the examination of the submarine might reveal secrets of submarine construction which would embarrass the German government and declared they could not risk revealing those secrets without definite instructions from the representative of the German government in this country.
(Special to The Herald)
Washington, July 11.—That the submarine Deutschland will officially be classified as a peaceful merchantman within 24 hours was certain today. Officials agreed that no other ruling was possible although it will be deferred until experienced naval constructors make an official report.

One thing emphasized everywhere in view of the denigrations of entente sympathizers that there would be a great massing of destroyers and armed motor boats along the Atlantic seaboard to sink the Deutschland when she starts out of the three-mile limit was that when the craft has been officially the status of a merchant vessel she must be treated as such. This means that all of the provisions of international law as defined by the agreements forged upon Germany by the United States must be rigidly observed. The Deutschland must be stopped in regular manner, visited and searched and provision made for the safety of her passengers and crew before she can be sunk and there was said today to be an excellent chance. When she sails from Baltimore she will have on board at least one American citizen as several have made offers of an enormous price for the privilege of taking passage to Bremen on the submarine.

MAJ. CARPENTER GIVEN DIVORCE

Custody of Young Son Ralph, Jr., To Be Determined Later.

(Special to The Herald)
Concord, July 11.—Judge John Kivel, who heard the Carpenter divorce case in Concord, today filed at Ossipee a decree granting a divorce to Major Ralph G. Carpenter from his wife, Marguerite Paul Carpenter. There was no decree as to alimony. Judge Kivel announced that he would hear arguments later as to the question of the custody of the child, Ralph G. Carpenter, Jr., the little figure about whom the real fight between the couple hinged.
The case stands as the longest divorce trial in the history of New Hampshire courts, and, through the prominence of the litigants, attracted wide attention.
Major Ralph G. Carpenter was the libellant in the divorce action against Mrs. Marguerite Paul Carpenter. He also asked the custody of his son, Ralph, Jr., the kidnapping of whom from Magnolia, Mass., first drew attention to the Carpenters' marital troubles. The action was hotly contested by Mrs. Carpenter, and much interest was expressed in the outcome.

CONFESSED TO MURDER

John G. Moyland Clubbed Mrs. Margaret Riley of Hyde Park to Death.

(Special to The Herald)
Boston, July 11.—John G. Moyland today confessed to the Hyde Park police that he murdered Mrs. Margaret Riley of 17 Damon street, Hyde Park, by clubbing her with a baseball bat, the police announced.
According to the authorities Moyland who formerly boarded with Mrs. Riley, said: "I believed she was trying to poison me by putting poison in my food so I went up behind her when she was washing dishes at the kitchen sink and hit her with a baseball bat." The woman was found unconscious in her home and died in the hospital.

DELEGATES TO A. O. H. MEETING

The following delegates will attend the A. O. H. convention at Hotel Thorndike, Boston, from this State to be held on July 18: Rev. John P. Moran, Portsmouth, state chaplain; Edward J. Gallagher, Concord, state president; Joseph Flanagan, Dover, state vice president; Walter P. Mullen, Manchester, state secretary; Arthur W. Spring, Laconia, state treasurer; Eugene Callaghan, Concord, county president; Daniel Finn, Laconia; Patrick J. McGee, Berlin; John M. Collins, Claremont; Frank O'Brien, Portsmouth; Daniel J. Sullivan, Nashua; W. J. Foley, Keene; and James Casey, Somersworth.

MAY OVERTHROW GEN. CARRANZA

Mutiny and Desertion Are Rapidly Depleting the Ranks of the De Facto Government's Army

(Special to The Herald)
El Paso, July 11.—Mutiny and desertion are rapidly depleting the ranks of Carranza's army according to reports which reached here today. With each new defection of troops from the de facto government's standard, the forces of Villa are strengthened. In some quarters the prediction was made that within 60 days Carranza will be overthrown and that Villa will rule Mexico—or at least the northern division of it. The State Department at Washington has been informed of every fresh development in the crisis and the rapid ascension of Villa promises to lend a new aspect to the diplomatic negotiations. The Mexican official reports as issued at Juarez are unusually conservative where they are not flatly contradictory.
The latest report from that side told how 2,400 Carranza troops later supported by 1,000 reinforcements had engaged the Villa forces under Gen. Contreras near Corralitos. From all that can be learned from the Mexican authorities, the army of 3,000 has disappeared. They declare that no re-

VILLAGE IS RE-CAPTURED

British Occupy Contalmaison After a Bloody Engagement With Teutons.

(Special to The Herald)
London, July 11.—After a bloody battle which was marked no less by the violence of the direct attacks, than by the fury of the counter assaults of the Germans, the English are again in the beleaguered village of Contalmaison on the Somme front. Official announcement of the recapture of this place was made by the British war office today. The British had previously taken the town after it had been shattered by artillery fire, but had to give it up. A second drive was launched and after a series of night attacks the Germans were then driven out.

THE OLD BOYS

Then old boys ride with the young today.
Ride by their side like phantoms gray.
The old that were there in the long ago.
To answer the cry of the Alamo.
To lean with carbine and take the wall.
While the dead lips rang with that ghastly call.
The old boys hunt with the young off there.
For the cut-throat's hunt and the bandit's lair.
They sprang to the saddle as long ago.
When they answered the call of the Alamo.
Sprung to the side of the young who rush.
At their country's side through the endless hush.
Of the mesa-lands and the cactus brush.
Like the charge of the days of long ago.
They are up and away, by the young they ride
In the sweep of that steady, heroic tide
Of the young bent down to the saddle-goes.
They are up and away by the Alamo—
May answer and scurry and stand like men
In the hour of their country's need again.

ANOTHER NO-HIT GAME FOR "BUSH" HODGDON

Widder Shoe Company Defeated Consolidation Coal Company on Monday, Winning 1 to 0

The Consolidation Coal Company was defeated last evening at the hands of the Widder Shoe Company in the Sunset League by a score of 1 to 0. "Bush" Hodgdon, pitching another no-hit, no-run game. Not the slightest semblance of a hit was made off the high school lad although the real company got men on through a free pass, one error and three by being hit. Walter Woods was unfortunate in this last respect, having been hit by a pitched ball both times he came to bat.

The only run scored in the game came in the third inning when Mulholland hit to center for two bases, went third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch by Driscoll. His run would have counted had he not scored at that time as Cragen, after two were out, hit to left for two bases. These were the only long hits of the game.

The game was fast and interesting although lacking any really sensational plays. Jimmie Able made a circus catch off Craig in the first inning, spearing his fast liner with his bare hand, the ball having every appearance of being headed for a nice safe hit to right. Two men were on at the time and it looked like a couple of runs until Able batted up the lining.

Walter Woods placed Abrams behind the bat to start, playing in right field but shifted his position in the fourth inning. Driscoll worked far more steadily after the change was made. He was only hit for four safe ones, two coming in the third and one each in the first and fifth.

The game puts the two teams in a tie in third position in the standing, the P. A. C. in second and the Marley Bolton Co. leading.

The Game
1st Inning.—Mulholland out at first, Harrington to Able. Nolette was hit by the pitcher and stole. Gibson singled. Cragen popped to Collins. Craig drove a hot liner that Jimmie Able snatched with his bare hand. ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

Harrington flied to Mulholland. Esterbrook threw Collins out at first. Able flied to Nolette. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

2d Inning.—Malloy was tossed out by Driscoll. Esterbrook fanned Smith. Reached first on a wild pitched third strike, and took second on a passed ball. Hodgdon flied to Able. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

Rutledge flied to Craig. Kelly and Woods hit by pitched balls. Kelly was run down between second and third. Hodgdon to Nolette to Malloy. Woods stole second. Abrams walked. Gorman flied to Nolette. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

3d Inning.—Mulholland hit to center for two bases, and went third on a passed ball. Nolette fanned. Mulholland came home on a wild pitch. Gibson was fanned. Cragen drove to left for two bases and went third on a passed ball. Craig walked. Malloy flied to Gorman in center. TWO HITS, ONE ERROR, ONE RUN.

Driscoll thrown out to Gibson by Esterbrook. Harrington out at first, on a grounder to Hodgdon. Collins fanned. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

4th Inning.—Esterbrook flied to Gorman. Smith grounded out to Harrington.

Sunday was an ideal day. It was bright, pleasant and very comfortable with cool breezes which swept the shore.

Sunday marked probably the beginning of the real beach season at New Hampton's biggest summer resort, which grows in popularity each season. Hotels are all open and are well looked for the remainder of the season, although there is now plenty of room for those who wish to take their vacations during the last two weeks in July. Many cottagers are arriving daily and from now on the social side will be in full swing.

WANTS STATE TO EXTEND TO THE VERMONT BANK

NEW HAMPSHIRE FILES BRIEF IN CONNECTICUT RIVER BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

Concord, July 10.—The west bank of the Connecticut river, established as the boundary line between the colonies of New Hampshire and New York by King's decree of 1764, should be recognized as the present line of demarcation between New Hampshire and Vermont, in the opinion of the former state as set forth by Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph P. Matthews in a brief completed today for submission to the United States supreme court. The tribunal now has before it the famous boundary dispute in which Vermont seeks to extend its limits to the middle of the Connecticut river.

After settlers in eastern New York revolted and formed the state of Vermont in 1777, the brief states, Congress by resolutions adopted the boundary as it had been established by the King's decree. These resolutions, the brief adds, have never been repealed.

New Hampshire asks the supreme court to enjoin Vermont from disputing the sovereignty of New Hampshire over territory east of the west bank of the Connecticut at high water mark.

CARRANZA AGAIN WARNS OF MORE BANDIT RAIDS

Ambassador of "First Chief" Gives Second Warning to State Department at Washington of Villistas Movements

Washington, July 10.—Villista bandits are headed for the United States border, their immediate objective being Boguillas, Tex. The second warning to this effect was given the State Department of the United States today by Eliseo Arradondo, Carranza's ambassador-designate in Washington. Mr. Arradondo promised cooperation of Mexican Government troops with American forces against the bandits. Boguillas, Texas, is in the Big Bend region which was raided by Mexican outlaws early in May. This is the district along which it has been proposed to string Massachusetts National Guardsmen. By tomorrow Mexico's ambassador-designate to the United States is expected to advise the State Department at Washington of the details of plans for peace parleys. Preliminary arrangements for the conferences of representatives of the two countries in some city of the United States have been completed and the conferences are expected to be held without delay. Pending their completion thousands more national guardsmen are being sent this week to the border where General Funston already has an army of seventy thousand which he is preparing to train for any emergency. General Pershing's line remains in Mexico and according to drivers of supply trucks, who have just returned from the field base, seems to be preparing to stay some time. Colonel Roosevelt has made formal offer to the War Department of a division of troops in case of hostilities with Mexico. Conditions apparently are so favorable at present, however, that the embargo between the United States and Mexico has been lifted on everything except munitions of war.

Bandits Drive for Texas

Washington, July 10.—A second warning that Villista bandits are headed for the Big Bend district of Texas was given to the State Department today by Eliseo Arradondo, the Mexican ambassador designate. He told Acting Secretary Polk his government had given him definite information that the bandits were moving northward toward Boguillas, Texas, and promised cooperation of Carranza forces. Boguillas and Glenn Springs were raided early in May by bandits.

Invasion American Property
Matatlan, Mexico July 10.—Yaqui Indians, taking advantage of the withdrawal of Mexican troops from southern Sonora, are reported here to have crossed the Yaqui River and invaded the lands of American settlers and the Richardson Construction Company, devastating all property except company headquarters at Esperanza, where a Mexican garrison is maintained. The only Americans left in the Yaqui Valley are J. E. Dowder, J. C. Hetchel, Leon Anthony, Fred Seeman, Gus Seligman, H. Bruns, Karl Feister and a man named Pedro Courco. There is much suffering here on account of lack of food.

Bell Confers With Gonzales

El Paso, Tex., July 10.—George Bell Jr. and General Francisco Gonzales, commander at Juarez, held a conference Saturday night at the International bridge. General Bell refused to state what was discussed. It was reported, however, from Mexican sources usually reliable, that General Bell asked the Juarez commander to report to him promptly any news of the movement of bandit forces toward the Big Bend district of Texas. It has been rumored that the Villistas who recently engaged de facto forces near Jimenez intended to strike across the desert and invade this country.

Villistas Win Third Victory?

El Paso, Tex., July 10.—Reports that the Villista command operating southwest of Jimenez had inflicted the third defeat within a week on troops of the Mexican de facto government and had retaken Jimenez, current on both sides of the Rio Grande are without official confirmation.

Parley Plan Today

Mexico City, July 10.—The preliminary arrangements for a conference of representatives of the United States and Mexico to be held in some city in the United States have been completed. It is learned from a trustworthy source, and it is believed that by Tuesday Mexican Ambassador Designate Arradondo will advise the State Department at Washington of the details of the plans for peace parleys. These, it is understood, will be held without delay.

Training the New Army

San Antonio, Tex., July 10.—Numbering now more than 70,000 men and still increasing the border army will be subjected this week to such discipline and training as the staff here regards necessary for converting it into an efficient fighting machine. General Funston and his lieutenants are enthusiastic over the prospect of getting the growing forces into shape.

SHE'S A VOLUNTEER.

When Jack started with his National Guard Company for the Texas border she was determined she would not remain a maid all her life. She'd rather be a widow. So she went out and found this wonderful creation, and it was in this that they were married the day he boarded the train for the south.

It was a sleeveless wedding gown, something very unusual. The bodice consisted of a high loose girde of lace with shoulder straps made of bands of lace set with pearls that hung in loops on either side. The skirt was draped Grecian style over bands of the pearl set lace that crossed in front and continued loosely around the bottom of the girde. A frill of lace that matched the girde shows in the slit at the bottom of the skirt. A tulle veil was drawn simply over the forehead and caught with orange blossoms at the back. The bride carried a prayer book bound in white with a shower of lines of the valley tied with white ribbon.

PYTHIAN CLUB ORGANIZED AT MEETING MONDAY

CLUB STARTS WITH MEMBERSHIP OF SIXTY-FIVE AND OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN FOR THE YEAR.

On Monday evening the F. C. B. club, the social organization connected with Damon Lodge, number 9, Knights of Pythias, completed its organization at a meeting held in the rooms in the Globe Building on Pleasant street. The club has started with a membership of sixty-five and the officers and members are of the opinion that the enthusiasm so far shown indicates that the club will soon become one of the social factors in the city.

Following the meeting and election of officers a luncheon was served. The officers of the club elected at the meeting are:

President, T. Daniel Hayes.
Secretary-treasurer, William E. Mercer.

Board of directors, R. S. Weston, chairman; A. O. Benfield, John S. Carl, Thomas J. Massey and Walter L. Eastman.

BIRTH AND DEATH REGISTRATION IN THE UNITED STATES

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Director Sam L. Rogers, of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, has just issued in pamphlet form a paper entitled "The Federal Registration Service of the United States. Its Development, Problems, and Defects," prepared by Cressy L. Wilbur, M. D., formerly chief statistician for vital statistics, Bureau of the Census, and now director of vital statistics, New York State Department of Health, in which are set forth many interesting and significant facts. In reference to the growth of birth and death registration in this country.

The United States has lagged far behind the more progressive foreign countries in the matter of maintaining reliable records of births, deaths, and sickness. The importance of such records as aids in sanitation and the safeguarding of health is little appreciated by the average citizen, and in many cases by state and municipal authorities. Yet it should be fairly obvious that much more intelligent and effective efforts can be made for the prevention or suppression of any disease if accurate records are available in respect to its prevalence and the number of fatalities caused by it. Furthermore, the problems arising in connection with the rapid increase of certain classes of population and the decrease, or alleged decrease, of certain other classes can be discussed and handled much more intelligently if accurate records of both births and deaths are available. Fortunately, there has been in recent years a gratifying increase in the interest taken by state and municipal authorities in the recording of vital statistics.

Registration a State Function.
The great obstacle to the satisfactory and efficient recording of such statistics in this country is one which is peculiar to our form of government. Under the Constitution the registration of vital records is a matter which must be left to the individual state governments. As Dr. Wilbur says:

"The chief defects and therefore the resulting problems of Federal registration of vital statistics are due to the nature of the development of the work in this country, the dependence of the General Government upon the states for the adoption and enforcement of laws, and the lack of control of the means of registration. Hence the efforts of the Bureau of the Census, in cooperation with the state authorities, have been directed to the promotion of adequate legislation and the standardization of the records made thereunder."

The history of the registration of vital statistics in the United States has been that of a most valuable and necessary institution of modern society neglected amid more or less pioneer and primitive conditions. There was little thought of making permanent records of individuals in the rapid march of civilization across the continent. There was comparatively little need, for many a citizen of the United States has been born and has died without once having been required during the course of a long life to produce documentary evidence depending on such records. American life was purely individualistic.

"We are changing all this—and we can not contemplate all features of the change without a sigh of regret. As people come into closer contact in our crowded communities, vital records are of increasing importance to protect the rights and insure the privileges of the individual. Schools are overcrowded; child labor must be prevented; widows with minor children receive pensions from the state—perhaps old age pensions are coming. In a multitude of ways the state is entering into the daily life of the people and requiring records of births and marriages and deaths for the interest of the individual."

At the time of the adoption of the Constitution no country in the world had provided for registration of births and deaths as a governmental undertaking. The first records of deaths in

New York City are for 1904. In 1892 Massachusetts passed the first state registration law of modern type, it being a direct consequence of the enactment of the English law of 1837, which made vital statistics the foundation of modern sanitary progress.

Death Registration in 1880

Although statistics of births and deaths, based on information gathered by the census enumerators, had been compiled and published at each decennial census, beginning with that for 1850, it was not until 1880 that any of the data collected were obtained from registration records. In that year the Census Bureau based its mortality statistics for Massachusetts and New Jersey and for New York City and a number of other large cities outside of these two states upon their state and municipal records, accepting them as substantially correct. Although in square miles this death-registration area represented but an insignificant fraction of the entire United States, its population was 17 per cent of the total for the country. In 1880 and 1900 the area was extended, and in the latter year its population represented more than 40 per cent of the total for the United States.

Annual Statistics of Deaths

In 1900 there was begun the annual collection of death statistics from the registration area, which has been added to from year to year until it now embraces 26 states and contains 41 per cent of the land area and 70 per cent of the population of the United States. All the northern states east of the Mississippi River, save only Illinois, are included, together with the five southern states of Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, and North and South Carolina (the Carolinas having been admitted in 1916) the Central states of Minnesota, Missouri and Kansas, and the western states of Montana, Colorado, Utah, Washington, and California. On the south the area now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific, without a break except that made by Nevada and on the north the only gaps are those made by North Dakota and Idaho.

Birth Registration

In respect to registration of births, however, far less progress has been made. Because of the unsatisfactory character or the lax enforcement of birth registration laws in many states, it was not until 1915 that the Census Bureau inaugurated the annual collection of birth statistics from an area comprising the six New England states New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota, and the District of Columbia. This area, although it represents barely 10 per cent of the territorial extent of Continental United States, has a population of approximately 31,650,000 or 31 per cent of the total for the country.

The difficulty in obtaining proper registration of vital statistics is not in most cases due so much to absolute lack of legislative provision for registration as to the inadequacy of the laws or the failure to enforce them. Much progress, however, has been made in recent years. In 1900 no two states employed uniform blanks for recording either deaths or births; but at present what is known as the standard death certificate has been adopted or approved by 34 states, representing nearly 93 per cent, and the standard birth certificate by states representing approximately 85 per cent of the total population of the country.

Birth Rate Far Higher Than Death Rate

Those who view with apprehension the decline in the American birth rate may take comfort from the fact that the births in this country are still far in excess of the deaths. The excess is probably as great as 50 per cent, and may be even more, but it is not possible yet to estimate it with any degree of precision. The population of the United States would, therefore, show a healthy increase from decade to decade. If the present birth and death rates were to remain substantially unchanged, even though immigration should cease entirely.

PREDICTS 20,000,000 IN LONDON IN 1975.

London, July 11.—Arthur Crow, a leading economist, predicts the city of London will have 20,000,000 population in 1975, or two generations hence. The city, to give adequate housing for this number, should have a radius of eighteen miles, he added, and a great scheme for main roads must be worked out soon.

Thousands Going This Week
Washington, July 10.—War Department officials said many thousands additional National Guardsmen would start for the border this week.

POLICE NEWS.

One Frank Durice, born 43 years ago in San Francisco, Cal., asserted at an early hour this morning that he was going to blow up the Boston and Maine Railroad station with a bomb. That he had no bomb in his possession at the time didn't make much difference with Jimmy Doherty of the police department as Jimmy was laboring under the impression that Frank was working under pressure of a superabundance of Joy Water. No explosion resulted during the time it took for the hurry-up wagon to get from the garage on Chapel street to the said B. & M. station and Frankie had a free ride in the bus to the city constabulary where, much to his disgust, he was booked as a drunk rather than a dynamiter. Frank claimed to be a railroad foreman and gave his word of honor that he had never had a taste of anything stronger than iced tea.

Robert J. Graham, 32, Frank Freeman, 18, and Paul Deliberto, 13, were taken off the Rye electric car last evening at the corner of Congress and Middle streets by Captain Burke and Officers McLean, Condon and Smart; and they completed the trip to Market Square in the police auto, continuing to the station where they were booked on a charge of creating a disturbance and brawl. The trio had been placed under arrest by the crew in charge of the car, both motorman and conductor being special officers, somewhere beyond Foye's Corner after having bombarded the car with stones.

According to the men in charge of the car the three had been passengers on the car leaving the square for Rye at 9.05. On the way down they had created more or less trouble, refusing to remain quiet when requested to do so by the conductor. After passing Foye's corner they became so disorderly that the conductor felt forced to eject them from the car.

As the car due in the square at 10.00 o'clock came into Foye's Corner the trio opened fire on it with stones, one of the missiles striking a passenger on the head, causing a bad wound. The conductor phoned the railroad office and the police were notified and had the auto waiting for them after they were brought in. They spent the night, together with Frankie, the station wrecker, in the company of the usual number of drunks and lodgers.

HONOR KNIGHT, AGED 18, RECEIVED 78 WOUNDS.

Paris, July 11.—The youngest Knight of the Legion of Honor is Ferdinand Fille, of Marseilles. Only eighteen years of age, he has just been awarded the coveted decoration. When the Germans were over-running Belgium at the beginning of the war, young Fille left home and enlisted in the army of King Albert. He was wounded soon afterwards, and upon his recovery, although still under 17, became a volunteer in a French regiment.

He was wounded at Langeport while gallantly leading his comrades to the attack, his body receiving 78 shell splinters. His life was saved, but he lost an arm and an eye.

He had already received the military medal and the war cross when the French Government decided to make him a Knight of the Legion.

True Patriotism.

There were many excellent talks on patriotism on the Fourth of July. The subject is always appropriate to the day, and this year there are conditions which make the necessity of its consideration especially pressing. With the great European struggle still in progress and with danger at the door of this country, the question of patriotism is one that may well come home to every citizen, young and old, and under the circumstances it is not strange that Independence Day speakers everywhere laid special emphasis upon this subject.

And what some of them said was intended to show that patriotism does not consist simply in cheering and shouting and waving the flag. Those things are all right as evidences of patriotism, but they are not the thing itself.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels in an address in Maine said some excellent things on this subject. He spoke of the time when "spread-eagles" was the order of the day in Fourth of July addresses and the country flattered itself that it could "whip anything under the sun." The idea was cultivated that the United States was practically the only country of consequence on earth, but since that time the viewpoint has broadened and the country is less provincial. It realizes that it is a member of the family of nations and that it has important duties to perform for its own good and the good of its neighbors. True patriotism calls people to be regardless of the good of all and makes it as impossible for a nation to stand alone in the world as it is for an individual to stand alone in a community.

On the Fourth also at Oyster Bay Col. Theodore Roosevelt in a brief address said some things that may well be pondered by the American people. He said that while the people glory in the country's past they must not forget that every generation has duties and responsibilities of its own, and that true patriotism consists in rising to these as a free and intelligent people should. While glorying in the past it is for us to take care of the present and lay foundations for a future that shall be even greater and grander than the present or the past.

It is well that such lessons as these should be pressed home at this time. Patriotism in its true sense means more than shouting and flag waving, proper as these are in their place. It means a sober study of the needs of the country in peace and in war, and a willingness of each to sacrifice for the good of all. That is the meaning of patriotism that is worthy of the name, as every citizen of this great and glorious country should constantly bear in mind.

E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, admits that the steel business is booming as never before in its history, and he says now is the time for employers and employees to be considerate of each other's interests. He advises employers to treat their men justly and liberally, and employees to render loyal and efficient service, remembering that their own prosperity depends upon that of the business. This is good doctrine when business is booming, and it is good doctrine at all times.

The people of one Wisconsin town will have to pay no taxes this year. It is a small town in which has been established a new industry whose tax will meet the needs of the town several times over. Whether this will legally exempt other property from taxation may be a question, but there is no question that the town considers itself in great luck, and that it is so considered by its neighboring communities.

Reports indicate that the National Guard will see considerable service along the border whether war with Mexico comes or not. They will be kept there as long as conditions remain unsettled, and there is no telling how long that may be. But one thing is certain, the raiding of American towns by Mexican bandits is pretty close to its end if it has not already reached it.

The treasury department boasts a balance of more than $78,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year, as against a deficit exceeding $59,000,000 in the preceding year. And yet with such appropriations as are being made just now the government can hardly be looked upon as a money making institution.

There are places where recruits to raise the National Guard to full war strength are not coming in as fast as could be desired, and New Hampshire is one of them. It is to be hoped that not all of the enthusiasm and patriotism were expended in the preparedness parades.

The hay makers are ready for a change of weather. And the same is true of most other people in this part of the country.

It was a great Fourth for the overcoat and straw hat combination.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Contrast.
Roosevelt said yesterday: "What is needed is to inform the patriotism of the people, in which I never had finer faith and to raise it to deeply serious consideration of our present national needs." President Wilson said: "If we should be drawn into war, America would seem once more to shake herself out of a dream and say, 'I am now awake and I am now awake.'" Could any comparison better show the contrast between the two men. Wilson thinks it is well enough to wake up when the test comes. Roosevelt wants us to wake up now so as to be ready when the test comes.—Waterbury American.

CABLE LETTER

Brussels, July 10.—Belgium returning from England, complaint of their treatment by the British government and the British public. According to their statements the lot of the 250,000 Belgian fugitives in England is deplorable. They are kept under police surveillance or not permitted to live in the coast districts or change their residence without permission of the authorities.

Many of them find it impossible to obtain employment because of the British workmen who object to their presence in the factories. When they ask for work they are turned away and told to join the army of their country in Flanders and Northern France.

When the war began and hundreds of thousands of fugitives sought an asylum across the English channel, even the houses of the best houses were opened to them. For a time they received liberal aid from all sides and lived comfortably, but this did not last long.

The authorities and the public after a few months became tired of supporting them and they were told to go to work. When they tried to earn their own living the laboring classes objected to their competition. They were treated as paupers and foreign "scabs" and accused of taking the bread away from British working men. In many cases the manufacturers were compelled to bar them, because strikes were threatened.

In the paper "Independence Belge" published in London since Brussels was occupied by the German troops the Belgian writer L. de Lemaux says in a copy received here:

"England in her exultation has commended themselves to drive out the Belgian fugitive by making life unbearable to them. Our people are accused of pressing down British wages and we are told that 200,000 Belgians of military age are living on English charity. Instead of fighting for their country and the common cause of the Allies.

"The latter charge is an outright falsehood. According to a recent census the total number of Belgian fugitives in England is 250,000 including women and children. The men among them are mostly over 50 years old.

"To call our men shirkers and cowards is a brutal slander. The heroes who fought at Ypres at Ypres and on the Yser in the expectation of England and French aid and were mowed down by the thousands by German machine guns did not belong to a nation of cowards and they were not fighting for their own interests. The Belgians had nothing to gain in the war against Germany. They did not have to defend the supremacy of their commerce and it was not necessary for them to crush a dangerous competitor.

"They had no ulterior motives when they cast their lot with England and France and now, after losing everything in the terrible struggle, they are almost treated like enemies and called cowards by the nation for which they sacrificed themselves.

"There are comparatively few Belgians of military age in England. To demand of them that they should leave their families to starvation and go to the front is brutal. The Englishmen volunteer knows that his wife and children will get ample support from the government, but the Belgians can expect no aid for their dear ones and they may die of hunger while he is dying on the battlefield."

In another article this same paper protests against the order of the British government which forbids the Belgians living in England to furnish war material to their own country. Under this order the Belgian government is compelled to buy directly from the British manufacturers without the aid of middlemen and the Belgians are not even permitted to act as brokers.

SHAVES IN DANGER SPOT AND SHELL KILLS HIM

Mrs. Andrew McMullin has left for Newport where she will pass the summer with her husband, who is at present stationed at that place.

CURRENT OPINION

Japanese Navy No Menace to Peace of the United States.

Since the Wilson administration announced its stupendous defense program advocates of preparedness have been harping upon the popular notion of the Japanese peril. They have been telling us that the Mikado has a navy powerful enough to attack the United States once he makes up his mind to pick a quarrel. Let us see how true such a statement is.

All told Japan's warships aggregate 560,484 tons. As against this strength America has a fleet totalling 1,271,117 tons.

It is evident that the existing naval strength of Japan is about one-third that of the United States, and yet this is the fleet which has been constantly held up by certain publicists as a menace to the Pacific coast of America.—By K. K. Kawakami, Japanese Author.

BRILLIANT MASQUERADE AT THE STATE ARMORY

The state armory on Parrott avenue was the scene of the brilliant masquerade party on Monday evening when the members of the First Company, C. A. C., N. H. N. G., of this city were hosts to a large number of dancers. About 200 were present, the greater part in fancy and beautiful costumes. The evening opened with a march which was reviewed by the judges who announced the awarding of the prizes to the following after it had concluded:

First lady's prize: Miss Hope Waldron, for the most beautiful costume; gold wrist watch.
First gentleman's prize: Joseph Silek; traveling bag.
Second lady's prize: Mrs. Beatrice Allen; for most original costume; lady's silk umbrella.
Second gentleman's prize: James H.

McCarthy; most original costume; umbrella.
The judges were Mayor S. T. Ladd, Councilman E. Curlls Matthews, Jr., and Fred M. Sise, president of the Board of Trade.

After the awarding of the prizes general dancing was in order until 1:00 o'clock, several novelty dances being introduced by the committee in charge. At 11:00 o'clock an intermission was held during which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Andrew Jarvis, proprietor of Nichols Candy Store.

The committees in charge of the arrangements included Capt. Bodwell, Lieut. Naylor, Sergeant Weeks, Corporal Hersey and Private Parker; general committee: Cook Higgins, Private Horrocks, checking committee: Sergt. McAffery, box office.

WANT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Movement to Have One Being Started by Business Men at York Beach.

A permanent chamber of commerce to have full charge of affairs at York Beach, Me., is now being discussed by business men and hotel keepers at that resort.

Harry Gleckman started the movement last week and it is being taken up by others. There is talk of interesting the Hay Haven Yacht Club in the proposition and of building the chamber of commerce and Yacht Club into one big organization to honor York and place it once more back on the map.

The present plans are to secure a permanent secretary to be paid by the society and to establish a thorough advertising campaign. Also to promulgate other announcements for the resort and make it more a magnet to the summer people. Unless this is done at once some of the business men predict failure for many of the hotels and business establishments. It is a well known fact that the beach has been on a decline for the past few years and that little has been done to better it.

DECIDE U-BOAT IS PEACEFUL TRADER

Washington, July 10.—The German super-submersible Deutschland is not a warship. She is not even an armed merchantman. She has no guns or armament of any kind about her.

This was the report made to the treasury department shortly before noon by custom officials who boarded the submarine at Baltimore. The state department immediately was informed of the ship's status by Secretary McAdoo. The report, while preliminary, is considered definitely to establish the Deutschland's status.

Officially the state department will not take cognizance of the Deutschland's arrival until the treasury department has made a detailed report of its investigations. If those investigations prove the boat to be a merchantman there will be no reason why any communication which Capt. Koening is reported to be carrying from the Kaiser to President Wilson could not be presented at the White House.

According to numerous past rulings by Secretary of State Lansing, the case of the big underwater liner will be studied as an individual case, as have the cases of various Italian and French commerce-carrying ships that have entered American ports since the war began, with guns aboard.

Under these rulings, merchantmen have been permitted to come and go with guns as large as six-inch pieces aboard. All that was necessary to these cases was for the captain to give assurances that such armament was mounted for defense only. The fact that the Deutschland is a submarine, officials declared today, and not a surface boat, makes no difference as to her character.

Ownership an Issue

Ownership of the boat will have to be established. It was admitted that perplexing complications would exist should it be proved that the German government is part owner of the vessel. Absence of torpedo tubes, some officials believed would be taken as strong proof of the ship's peaceful character.

One ruling by Secretary Lansing, however, seems certain at least partial amendment. Discussing the line of demarcation between offensive and defensive firing by an armed merchantman, he said such merchantman could open fire at sight on a submarine "that appeared to be pursuing her."

The captain of a merchant ship, the secretary declared, in such cases, is warranted in acting upon the assumption that the submarine action is offensive.

This ruling was predicted solely on the theory that all U-boats were war boats. Need for a new ruling officials admitted, is obvious, with U-boats now appearing as passenger and cargo carriers.

In this connection, possibility of serious complications with allied governments, therefore, arises. Such possibilities would loom large should an American citizen engage return passage on the Deutschland, and the boat be attacked.

through the opposing lines at Lutzk, has now been repaired. While the Ger-

London, July 10.—There is no let up in the hammering by the Allies of the steel ring with which the Teutonic powers is surrounded. East, west and south frightful blows are being delivered and the ring is being bent in on all fronts. In the east the most spectacular advances are being made. Four towns to the possession of which the Teutonic Allies have attached great importance, having made preparations to defend them on the largest scale—Stanislau, Kovel and Jaroslawel on the eastern front, and Peronne in the west—are now coming within range of the guns of the Entente. Allies, and four great battles are expected. At the beginning of the offensive the Russian attack toward Kovel was directed along the railway from Rovno and Austro-German reinforcements were brought up to meet this threat. The Russians suddenly showed greater activity along the Sarny-Kovel railway and above that line, with the result that the Germans, according to Russian accounts, have been driven back in disorder to a point a little more than twenty miles from Kovel. It is believed this sudden onslaught will compel the Germans to abandon the defense along Stokhod River as beyond that stream German stores have been set afire. Some British military writers have been concentrating their forces and successfully defending the Rovno-Kovel line, the Russians delivered a surprise attack considerably to the north, along the Sarny-Kovel line, which has apparently been ignored by the Austro-Germans. The result of this attack has been a clear fifteen mile advance, which has driven the defenders well back upon the Stokhod line of fortifications. Not only have the Russians expelled the Germans from every fortified position between the Stry and Stokhod, but at Uglil—the point where the Stokhod takes an abrupt turn westward—they have crossed the river and are declared to be in swift pursuit of the Germans beyond.

The Stokhod River, upon which the Teutonic forces retired along the whole line from Uglil as far north as Noble, is the only fortified line now separating the Russians from Kovel. This new line of advance upon Kovel has extended what has commonly been known as the Lutzk beach to the front of seventy-five miles, along the whole width of which the fiercest struggle is now proceeding.

The hasty character of the German retreat has led to the conclusion here that the Germans have insufficient forces to make a serious stand in this quarter where a Russian attack was not expected, and the Stokhod line may go undefended.

The announcement follows: "Our offensive on the lower Stokhod continues. The enemy is retreating in great disorder."

"South of the Sarny-Kovel railway the villages of Goulevitch and Kachova have been burned after fighting. Further south there are fires everywhere in the region of the villages of Arsonovitch, Janovitch and Monchitch.

"In the section east and northeast of Baranovitch very lively fighting continues. The enemy is offering desperate resistance."

Solve Key to Carpathians

Petrograd, via London, July 10.—Important gains by the Russians are announced in the War Office statement of yesterday. In southern Galicia the railway town of Delatyn has been captured. In the drive toward Kovel the Russians have taken two more villages. The statement says:

"In southern Galicia General Letchitzky occupied Delatyn yesterday after very violent fighting. Delatyn is a railway junction of great importance. Deposits of war material, steel shields, grenades, cartridges and iron wire, abandoned by the enemy, have been captured at many points."

"In Bukovina, west of Khotyn, near the villages of Poudout-Moldava and Valepounta, we repulsed the enemy, who left many dead on the field. We took prisoners seven officers and 530 soldiers. Between June 23 and July 7 General Letchitzky's army took prisoner 674 officers and 30,575 soldiers and captured 15 cannons, 100 machine guns and 14 caissons."

STRAIN TOO GREAT

Hundreds of Portsmouth Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden

The hustle and worry of business men. The hard work and sleeping of workmen. The woman's household cares. Often weaken the kidneys. Backache, headache, dizziness. Kidney troubles, urinary troubles—frequently follow.

A Portsmouth citizen tells you what to do. H. S. Spinnay, 41 Pickering street, Portsmouth, says: "On account of the heavy work I do, my back occasionally gave me trouble. Dull, grinding pains took me across my back and bore down on me like a great weight. At times it was hard for me to work as I have to bend and lift continually. I was finally told of Doan's Kidney Pills and since then, this medicine has never failed to put my back in good shape. I always keep them on hand in case of necessity."

launched in the Champagne by the French last night. The War Office today announced the capture of trenches over a front of five hundred yards.

On the Somme front the French took a line of German positions. In the neighborhood of Barleux. In this section 250 Germans were captured yesterday and last night.

The French attack in the Champagne was made at a point west of Mesnil. The French troops charged three times.

On the Somme front north of the river

Slay Drive Alarms Germans

Berlin, via London, July 10.—The eyes of Germans are turned toward the eastern rather than the western front. The weight of the first onslaught in the west is believed to have been fully estimated and, in spite of whatever surprise British strategy may still have in store, public and expert opinion here is confident of the outcome. It is believed that the Sixth army and reserves have the situation well in hand on the Somme front and that nothing can interfere with the progress of the Verdun campaign.

In the east, however, a great general offensive has burst forth all along the line from Riga to Rounina. Wave after wave of Russian flesh and steel is rolling against the Teutonic dyke which stretches across the Russian provinces. Thrust follows thrust in constant succession and, no sooner do the Germans succeed in walling the advance at one threatened point, than another menaces.

The most striking results thus far manifested have been seen in the leadership and distribution of the forces of the Central Powers rather than in the actual movement of the contending armies. With the exception of General Planzer, commanding a small group at the extreme southern end of the line, the Austro-Hungarian units everywhere are intervalled by Germans who have furnished reserves to bolster up particularly threatened points.

At the very outset of the Russian offensive, General Planzer detached divisions to relieve the hard pressed Archduke Joseph Ferdinand and his operations now are mainly directed to the defence of the Carpathian forests and passes into Hungary.

CONNECTICUT SUFFERS FROM HELP SHORTAGE

New Haven, Conn., July 10.—Thousands of men could be utilized on the farms of Connecticut today, yet there is not a chance of obtaining them. Munitions factories and thriving shops everywhere in the state absorb the help as a dry sponge takes water. Wages which range from $12 a week for youngsters up to $10 and $15 a day for the best skilled workmen. Still hundreds of farms and small businesses in eastern Connecticut and other portions of the state are reported idle because there is no one to work them. There isn't even a ghost of a chance for a farmer to secure help at $2.00 per day. Even common laborers are getting in many places $3.00 an hour for an eight hour day with a half holiday every week. What the help shortage together with the cold and wet weather experienced so far this season will mean to Connecticut crops no one dares to estimate.

FRENCH ARISTOCRATS INVENT NEW KIND OF DUEL.

Paris, July 11.—In a front line trench a few yards from the enemy two young French officers of aristocratic descent quarrelled before witnesses. In ordinary circumstances such a matter could have only been adjusted by recourse to a duel which would have continued until one or the other fell wounded, but realizing that, in war time, their lives belonged to France, the officers decided on a "duel" in which the enemy should be the one attacked.

It was agreed that as soon as one of the officers had been wounded honor should be considered satisfied. Each man took two bombs, climbed to the parapet, and threw the bombs in the German trench. The enemy retallied, and soon one of the officers was wounded in the leg.

It was only a slight wound, but his "adversary" helped him back to the trench, the two shook hands warmly, and "honour" was satisfied.

A COINCIDENCE.

George Pennington, for many years a conductor on the Portsmouth electric road, has entered the employ of M. J. Jacques, on Vaughan street. Mr. Pennington was in the employ of the road seventeen years to a day, and Mr. Jacques was employed by his former employer for a period of eighteen years when he decided to engage in business for himself, which seems a rather singular coincidence.

FINED FOR SHORT LOBSTERS

Exeter Man Overhauled by Manchester Wardens at Hampton Beach.

A heavy fine for short lobsters which was one of the biggest paid in the county for some time was imposed upon F. E. Dearborn of Exeter Saturday. At a special session of the police court in that town, Dearborn, whose arrest was brought about by Fish and Game Wardens Dennis Seannell of Manchester and Peter Smith of Concord paid a total of $119.38.

Twenty lobsters all less than nine inches were taken from Dearborn at Hampton. The fish and game wardens have been on the lookout for the offenders against the lobster law and were doing detective work in Hampton when Dearborn happened along. Unhesitatingly he admitted catching them.

Arrangements were immediately made for the court trial in Exeter and within a comparatively short time Judge Adams imposed a fine of $105 upon Dearborn, which with costs of court amounted to $119.38.

The fish and game commission mean that the lobster law shall not be violated and will keep a close watch on all owners of lobster traps.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, July 11.—An epidemic of colds that has spread over New England is said by Boston physicians to be due to the continuous wet weather and the absence of the sun. The lack of sunlight is given as the chief cause. A prominent Back Bay physician telling of the epidemic today said: "Few people have an adequate conception of the healing work done by the rays of the sun. The sunlight literally kills germs. This year, owing to the rain, the sun has not killed the germs, and as a result nearly everyone has at least had the sniffles. The rain of course has done its part. Most people have been thoroughly soaked through during the heavy rains and many colds have resulted from the soaking. But the damp, gloomy weather, has such a depressing effect on the body that the powers of resistance are lowered and colds that ordinarily thrown off, settle right in the body. The best way to avoid colds is to keep in the sunlight. The windows in the house should be kept open and the shades up to let in the sunshine. If alcohol is used it should be externally. Of course, this is the season for the pollen colds. Many are affected by the pollen from roses or hays. The only way to avoid these colds is to keep away from the plants that cause them."

June was one of the busiest months since the opening in March, 1915, of the Angell Memorial Animal hospital of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals on Longwood avenue. During the month 217 cases were treated in the hospital and 201 in the dispensary department.

ment, a total of 513 for the month. In addition to curing for 51 stray cats. In the hospital 120 dogs and 60 horses were treated, and operations were performed upon 63. In the dispensary 218 dogs, 60 cats, nine horses, two birds and three other animals were treated. The total hospital cases since the opening is 2999 and the total dispensary cases 3315, a total of all cases of 6315.

The New England Shoe and Leather work "Get Together" day will be held Thursday when the visiting buyers will be the guests of the Boston Shoe Travelers' Association, the New England Shoe and Leather Association, and affiliated organizations on a harbor trip and dinner at Nantasket. The members will assemble first in Boston on Wednesday. The party will assemble at the Hotel Essex at 8.45 a. m. and take a Nantasket boat for a harbor trip, including visits to the navy yard, interned German ships and other historic points. Sporting events will be held at 11 o'clock on 11 a. m. and the excursion will continue to Nantasket for the dinner at Paragon park.

Over three hundred men and women are enrolled at the Harvard University summer school which opened its session last week. Enrollment will continue for a week or more. Last year's enrollment reached a total of 916 persons, including all registered in the physical education department in which about 200 are now registered for this summer. As usual, the work of the summer sessions will be enhanced by lectures and recitals, most of which are open to the public. The courses in gymnastic games are especially popular, including instruction in such games as "Lame Duck," "Straddle Ball," "Jolly Fisherman," "Driving the Pig," "Duck on the Rocks" and the good old game of "Three Deep." For several weeks the future physical directors of public schools and directors of playgrounds will hop and jump and run in the mystic mazes of children's delight, in order to direct such games for children.

AMERICANS IN FRONT OF BRITISH DRIVE

ACQUITTING THEMSELVES WITH CREDIT IN FIGHTING UNPAR-ALLELED IN WORLD'S HIS-TORY

British Headquarters, France, July 10.—American citizens have seen better fighting in the last two weeks than any Americans since the Appomattox campaign. They have endured as heavy shell fire as the German guns ever directed at the British front and know what it was to charge into the German trenches with bayonet and bomb in pouring rain, through the mud in the small hours of the morning.

There are more Americans scattered among the Canadian battalions than most people realize. Some of these were living in Canada when the war began; some crossed the border and enlisted for the sake of being in a "scrap"; some felt it a duty to strike a blow for the allies.

If a man took the oath and put on a uniform a Canadian recruiting agent did not ordinarily bother, if he were a sound man, which side of the border he came from. Besides, the recruit sometimes had a bad memory on that score himself. "What part of Canada are you from?" a British officer asked a Canadian private.

"Out West, sir."
"What part of the West?"
"The far West, sir."
"What part I asked. Haven't you learned yet to give a definite answer to an officer's question?"

After a man has been wounded the truth is more likely to come out. After an examination of a bad jaw fracture the surgeon said to one wounded American:

"You've a bad smash, but we shall pull you through and fix you up as good as new."

"Are you giving it to me straight?" was the feeble question.

"Yes, you can depend on it."

"Well, if that's the dope and no kidding I wish you'd write to my mother out in Ohio and tell her."

Those who were looking for a scrap frankly admit they have had it. No one questions how they stood up to it along with their Canadian comrades.

Nor are they all privates. Three officers who were killed in the retaking of Observatory Hill were Americans.

PROMOTING PUPILS

In former days it was believed that pupils should be promoted only once a year. If they failed in any one subject they were held back one year. Pupils were often required to spend two or more years in one grade, though they might have the first year, completed satisfactorily all the work except one study.

But at no up-to-date school today is this practice followed. Pupils are promoted several times a year. Thus the gap between any two classes is not so great as when there was or is promotion but once a year. On this plan pupils can move along as rapidly as they are able to. A bright pupil is not held back by one who is not so well endowed by nature, or who is not so earnest or so well taught at home. An industrious pupil has an opportunity to push ahead and complete his course earlier than he could if he had to keep the "lock step" with his classmates.

It is a disadvantage, alike to children of ability and those who are not so well favored, to keep them all together for a year at a time. A capable pupil who has to wait for a slower or duller one is injured thereby. He not only wastes his time; but what is far more disastrous, he is apt to acquire habits of idleness and mind wandering. When a pupil sits unoccupied in his seat every day, waiting for slower pupils to catch up with him, he can hardly fail to get into ways which will be a handicap to him later on. Such a pupil ought to be moved along into a class in which he will need to apply himself in order to keep up with his classmates. Every pupil, whether bright or dull, ought to feel that he must do his best constantly in order to hold his own with his fellows. But if the lad with talents must wait for the lad without them, then the former will not exert himself as he should.—M. V. O'Shea in the August Mother's Magazine.

An Actress Expert at Cake Making and Salesmanship.

HOW SHE MADE LOVEBIRD PIE

For 25 Cents Miss Hedman Sold a Slice of Pastry to the Greatest Fletcherizer in the World at the Allies' Bazaar.

One of the many actresses who helped the allied bazaar at the Grand Central palace, New York, was Martha Hedman, the Swedish star.

Miss Hedman, who is the only actress who ever baked a cake in a glass dish, sold a piece of the delicacy to an elderly man who visited her booth, next to the authors and artists' booth. He was a little man with a fringe of hair as white as the serge suit he wore. A single medal stood out in bold relief on his left breast. He had given his quarter for the "slice of cake so engerly that Miss Hedman began extolling the virtues of a lovebird pie, a finky crust over a glass bowl in which were two live birds, urging him to buy the pie and throwing in such an inducement as an autographed picture of herself. As she talked merrily on her visitor munched his cake, must-calling each small bit thoroughly. At the end of several minutes he was still eating calmly, and as Miss Hedman glanced at the portion that remained undevoured there may have been just a suggestion of a frown in her eye. At any rate, her customer handed her his card, which read, "Honoree Fletcher, A. M., Food Economist." Then it rushed across the actress' consciousness that the man fletcherizing his cake was he who had taken the joy out of life—and probably putting much health into it—for many by savoring them into eating slowly.

Baby Things.

In the craze for quilts baby's interests should not be neglected, as he will perhaps have more use than his elders for such a comfortable, even during the warmer months. A most effective modern version of the old time quilt is made of blue chambray, with a white band near the edge, which crosses at the corners. In the center of the quilt are three saucy bedtime babies in nightgowns, not forgetting the cups, and each carries a lighted candle. While chambray is used to depict this and is applied to the blue background. Extra touches of color are put in with embroidery outline. Below the figure runs the legend, "The Sandman is Coming."

A toy that the baby will probably take to bed as well as play with in the daytime is a linen doll made by joining two third and embroidered pieces of material together to form the front and back of the doll and inclosing beans, for the character doll is really a bean bag.

Secret of French Frying.
The secret of successful French frying is to have the fat so deep that it entirely covers what you wish to fry and so hot that it will instantly form a crust over the entire surface of the article that is immersed in it. If further cooking is necessary the heat should immediately be reduced.

The best frying is done by plunging the article entirely in boiling fat. All too often French fried potatoes are merely slices softened in grease. Boiling grease does not enter articles plunged into it, but forms a crust on the surface which keeps out the fat. A well fried article, prepared in the French manner, will hardly sell the napkin on which it is laid. Either lard or drippings may be used for this purpose. Test the heat with a bit of bread or inch square. If it browns in one minute the heat is right.

Corn Chowder.
Fry a half pound of diced salt pork in a big saucepan until brown. Add one sliced onion and cook until light brown. Then add four sliced potatoes that have been parboiled ten minutes, a can of corn or corn cut from cob and a pint of boiling water. Cook until the vegetables are tender, then add a quart of rich milk, pepper, salt and a half dozen crackers which have been soaked in a little milk. Serve with a cracker on each dish of soup.

STOLE THE SIGNAL

Red Light Placed on Track Holds Up Electric Car at Sagamore Hill.

If the people who enjoy interfering with the red light signals on the highway are found out by the police they will then cut out the joke stunts. A few nights ago the lantern at the junction of South street and Sagamore avenue was removed by some freak and placed in the middle of the track of the Portsmouth Electric railway on Sagamore Hill. One of the late cars in from Rye discovered the danger signal and naturally backed up. After a while the conductor, looking up the light, flagged the car up the hill and along to South street but found there was no danger. It is thought to have been the work of some joy-riders. He placed the light in position at the proper place and the car came along to Market Square.

OLYMPIA THEATRE

High Class Features!

PROGRAM FOR Monday and Tuesday

Triangle-Fine Arts presents Douglas Fairbanks supported by Bessie Love in "THE GOOD BAD MAN"

There is so much bad in the best of us.

And so much good in the worst of us.

That it hardly behooves any of us to find fault with the rest of us.

This is the theme of the dashing, old fashioned, new-fangled thriller, written by Douglas Fairbanks and presented on the Triangle-Fine Arts program in 5 reels.

Jesse L. Lasky presents America's most beautiful actress.

Edna Goodrich in "ARMSTRONG'S WIFE"

By Margaret Trumbull. A photoplay exceptionally adapted to Miss Goodrich's talents. The beautiful star is the central figure in a struggle for her affections by two men of different types. A Paramount picture in 5 parts.

Triangle-Keystone presents CHARLES MURRAY and typical Keystone cast in "HER MARBLE HEART"

2 Reels.

Coming Wednesday and Thursday

William Fox presents Theda Bara in "Gold and the Woman," Miss Bara appears as a Mexican adventuress; this is one of the best pictures she has appeared in. Paramount presents "Chinmias Fadden Out West" with Victor Moore, in 5 reels.

CLAIMS TO BE RESIDENT

T. C. Wright, Who Has Filed Papers for First Congressional District, Not Known Here.

A flurry of excitement was caused at Concord on Monday when it became known that T. C. Wright of this city had sent in a hurry for candidate's papers for the first congressional district. Who he is or who he represents nobody here seemed to know.

His name does not appear in the latest Portsmouth directory and it seems to be unknown to party leaders of every type.

Evidently some mistake has been made in the name for no such person as T. C. Wright resides in this city as far as can be learned.

THE HERALD HEARS

That Sunday school outings are numerous.

That we didn't see much of the highway commission and councilor who are said to have been here lately to inspect state roads.

That it won't be hard work to collect money for band concerts; if we mean business.

That most everybody would give a little for this object.

That in most places the city council takes charge of such affairs and it brings a city a lot of good.

That a well known Water street clerk is doing some private detective work but it's all for himself.

That he will if possible locate the party who recently sent him a package from Hampton Beach.

That the package did not contain any explosives, but the contents he says was not really meant for him.

That the boys say he opens the package now and then in the dark.

That Miss Mary Halsey of Clearfield, Pa., who killed 971 soldiers of the 6th Pennsylvania Regiment, is some scoundrel.

That Mary certainly has the kissing bug and doesn't seem to care for the state board of health rules.

That she was engaged in smuggling for two hours and thirty minutes.

That the New Hampshire boys who soon leave for the border would like to have their train routed through Mary's town with a stop of half a day.

That Mary might not display as much patriotism to the New Hampshire boys as she did for the regiment from her own state.

That another detachment of petty officers from the U. S. S. Montana was sent to the state rifle range at Massachusetts today for target practice.

That the rivalry for the position of Chief Stinger is still lively in the ranks of the Hornet Club.

That the local female friends of the Crescent club says there is great attraction for the boys at Hampton Beach.

That the girls don't care as long as the boys keep away from Newmarket, Wadleigh's Falls, Raymond and Dover.

That the police department may assign one of the night patrolmen lately appointed to the duty of driving the patrol.

That the Manchester, N. H. post-office had an increase of $2,338 in June.

That one day alone brought in $720 more than the corresponding day of June, 1915.

That there are many women in this city who want to learn the art of swimming.

That they would like some place where the water is still, and many of them are willing to pay an instructor.

That the movies have broken many a nickel bank.

That a move is being made to close the Nashua saloons at 10 p. m.

That the extra hour ordered by the license law is up to the city government.

That the Dover Sunset League has four teams. Columbia A. C., St. Thomas, Wanderers, and De La Salle.

OBITUARY

Alice Jane Goodwin.

Died, July 10, at Elliot, Me., Alice Jane Goodwin, aged 65 years, wife of Andrew Goodwin. Funeral services will be held from the Advent Church, South Elliot, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Carrie Speed.

Died, July 10, at the home of Mrs. Granville Blake on Bennett street, Carrie Speed. She is survived by an uncle and aunt and several cousins. Funeral services will be held from the home of Mrs. Blake on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends invited.

A DISTINGUISHED RESIDENT.

Perhaps the most distinguished resident of Portsmouth, Harriet McEwen Kimball, is suffering from illness of long standing. We hope that with skillful treatment she will gain in the direction of a restoration to good health.

Miss Kimball is known throughout the country as a writer of religious poetry. Her poems, many of them, are destined to live, because of their singular merit. They touch the heart, and bring fresh courage to the Christian wayfarer. When we recall the fact that it was Miss Kimball who founded the Cottage hospital (now the Portsmouth hospital) and Christ church, in this city, we are grateful that we can link the name of such a benefactor with that of a writer who has gained a high rank in literature. Portsmouth is indeed fortunate as being the birthplace and residence of Harriet McEwen Kimball.

CARS TO RUN TO HAMPTON BEACH WITHOUT CHANGE

First Through Trip Likely to Be Made on Thursday.

The management of the Portsmouth Electric railway and the Exeter and Hampton line have arranged for running the cars from this city through to Hampton Beach this week and the first trip without the regular change at North Beach will likely be made on Thursday.

STIMSON-LINCHEY.

Young Couple Married at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

The wedding of Charles E. Stimson and Miss Mary C. Linchey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Linchey of 11th street, occurred this morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 7:30. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. Alex. Sullivan, P. R., and was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends.

The bride wore blue silk and was attended by Miss Katherine Timmons as bridesmaid, who also wore blue silk. The best man was Thomas Linchey, brother of the bridegroom.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony and many useful and costly gifts were received by the contracting parties.

After a short honeymoon in New York and Atlantic City they will reside at the home of the groom's parents at Portsmouth Plains.

The groom is employed at the Morley Button Manufacturing Company, and like the bride enjoys the acquaintance of a wide circle of young friends who wish them both a long and happy wedded life.

POLICE COURT.

Robert J. Creighton, Frank Pecur and Paul Dillberto, three strangers, were before Judge Gupill in the municipal court today as the result of their bad acts on Monday evening. They were charged with disturbance and drinking liquor on the cars of the Portsmouth Electric Railway. The trio, who are employed at one of the hotels at Rye Beach, were out to put a heavy coat of red hue on the town, but it certainly cost them more for the ride in the patrol wagon than it did for paint. They loaded up in the local amusement parlors and with a supply of liquors for the trip home took the 2:05 p. m. car from this city. They were there with the Rah-Rah! stuff all along the line and drank several toasts to their college chums at home.

The crew of the car and the other passengers did not care for the line of vandalism and they were forcibly ejected at Poye's corner. They were left in the highway and the car moved on. They hung around the road until the incoming car for Portsmouth came along and there was more trouble. The crew of this car were warned that the hard guys from Cambridge might be heard from again and they were watching out for them. The Portsmouth car had hardly reached Poye's siding when a rock flew into the car and struck a sailor on the head. The car crew was on their job in a minute. They jumped off, piled the whole bunch into the car and brought them to Portsmouth where the patrol wagon met them at the corner of Middle street and Congress street. In court they all denied the rock throwing and as nobody was a witness to the crazy act the charge against them was dropped. Dillberto was fined $21.81; Creighton $17.81; and Pecur escaped with a free ticket.

NOTICE.

Miss S. J. Zoller of Boston removes superfluous hair by the electric needle and will be at Mrs. Ida A. Nelson's hair-dressing parlor, 6 Globe Bldg., on July 12. Please phone appointments there. h 318, 71.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of Miss Maud Robinson will be held from the North Church chapel on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

BOYS' SPORTS AT PLAYGROUND

First Athletic Meet of Season for Boys Under 13 Years.

The first athletic meet for boys under 13 years was held Monday afternoon and was marked with close competition throughout. N. Young was high man with two firsts and three thirds to his credit, but F. Wilmet pushed him hard with one first, two seconds, and a third. The feature was contributed by Tibbits in the pull up, when the plucky fellow beat the mark set by the older boys in Class A last Thursday.

50-yard dash—Wilmet, first; St. Clair, second; N. Young, third. (7 sec.)

Broad jump—Ryan, first; Flanagan, second; Young, third. (19 ft. 4 in.)

Potato race—First heat won by G. Hurley; second heat by H. McCann; third heat by Pridham, fourth heat by Wilmet. Final—McCann, first; Wilmet, second; Hurley, third.

High jump—Young, first; Wilmet, second; J. Walsh, third. (3 ft. 6 in.)

Pull up—Tibbits, first, 11 times; Walsh, second, seven times; Young, third, six times.

220-yd. Run—Young, first; Ryan, second; Wilmet, third. (33 sec.)

WRECKERS BUSY

Crew Called to Hampton and Later to Milton.

The Boston and Maine wreckers in this city were busy today. They worked at Hampton removing a car that had been pushed into a sand bank and then went to Milton where a car loaded with carboard was on the ground on a side track.
